

Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire School of Postgraduate Medicine

VULVAL PROBLEMS: THE FUNDAMENTALS

Supported by the British Society for the Study of Vulval Disease (BSSVD)

An essential two day short course for all health care professionals wanting to know more about vulval disorders

Date

9th/10th March 2010

Time

09.15-16.45

Venue

University of Hertfordshire, College Lane
Hatfield, Hertfordshire

Cost

£260 (for the two days)
£400 for 15 credit assessed module
(9th/10th and 11th March)

Target audience

- Specialist registrars in dermatology, sexual health and obstetrics and gynaecology (to fulfil basic training in vulval disorders)
- General Practitioners, GPwSIs, practice nurses, nurse practitioners,
- Family planning health care professionals, community gynaecologists
- Anyone performing regular cervical smear examinations

Content

- Specific history and examination skills
- Common vulval dermatoses: diagnosis and management
- Sexually transmitted infections and vulval disorders
- Vulval pain syndromes and their management
- Benign, premalignant and malignant vulval disease
- The importance of the multi-disciplinary team
- The patients view on vulval disorders

Speakers to include:

Patient representatives. Expert consultants in dermatology, sexual health and gynaecology from the British Society for the Study of Vulval Disease (BSSVD)

Booking Forms

Vanessa Mason
CPD Office
Wright Building
University of Hertfordshire
College Lane
Hatfield, AL10 9AB
Email: v.r.mason@herts.ac.uk
Tel no: 01707 824665

For further information

Julia Schofield
Principal Lecturer
Post Graduate Medical School
Faculty of Health and Human Sciences
College Lane
Hatfield, AL10 9AB
Email: j.k.schofield@herts.ac.uk